Terrain description Terrain type: The competition area is located in the Habichtswald south-west of Kassel. Large parts of the forest are covered by old beech trees. In addition to old beech trees and steep slopes, the participants can expect partly stony ground and impressive rock formations. In the north, the competition area borders the Unesco World Heritage Site, the Bergpark Wilhelmshöhe. Even if this is not part of the competition area, it invites you to discover the Herkules, the Wilhelmshöhe Castle or the Löwenburg, after your run.

Topography: Most of the competition area is steep and hilly. You can find the Bismarck tower on 432 m above sea level in the east of the area. The tower is located a few meters next to the Brasselsberg, from which a mountain ridge runs west through the entire competition area.

Runnability: Runnability is mostly good. More open parts alternate with greener parts. On the slopes where the ground is very rocky, the runnability is limited.
